

School of Public Health-Bloomington

A few days ago, we informed you about a brief internet outage that might affect your work. We have since learned that water will also be restricted to the building this weekend.

Effective 5 p.m. on Friday, January 17, water will be shut off to the lower-level restrooms. It should be available again by Sunday, January 19. Timely updates such as these are always available on our website.

Please plan for both outages, as we do not want them to cause you undue inconvenience. Thank you for understanding as we navigate the challenges of ongoing building improvements.
